

Engineers.

It's not just what we make. It's what we make possible.

This decade we will create and extend computing technology to connect and enrich the lives of every person on earth. Do you want to be a sponsor of tomorrow?

Our Fab 24 facility is one of Intel's most technologically advanced, high-volume manufacturing plants in the world. We produce latest generation silicon microprocessors that power platforms and technology advancements which are essential to the way we learn, live and work today.

Our Silicon Development Group work with Intel Architecture Groups worldwide to design the next generation leading edge products.

Our Embedded and Communications Group deliver innovative embedded computing and communications solutions, on Intel platforms. Application areas are varied and range across packet processing, wireless, media, signal processing, cryptography and networking protocols.
