

Dear Design Professional,

Please note that the 4 GB DDR4 HiLo daughtercard has been temporarily removed from this development kit as it is no longer available from our vendor. Discussions have been underway to allow Intel to manufacture these cards to allow future shipments to include them.

As the daughtercard becomes available, they will be shipped separately to customers who have already purchased a kit. We expect them to be available in mid-2020. If there is an immediate need for the 4 GB DDR4 HiLo daughtercard, please have your Intel® sales representative or online technical support contact product marketing for a daughtercard. The following information needs to be provided to receive a daughtercard:

- Sales order number(s)
- Board serial number(s)

For additional questions, please contact your local Intel sales representative or online technical support.

Sincerely,
