Overview of the Quartus II Software Notification Center

The Quartus® II software notification center allows you to remotely receive and view your Quartus II software compilation status. To access the notification center, you must have an account with the Altera® notification center at http://cloud.altera.com. To create a new account, click Create an account at the top right side of the page.

You can subscribe to receive notifications on your compilation status through the Quartus II software. If you have subscribed and are logged into your account, the notification center will alert you of your compilation status via email.

Using the Quartus II Software Notification Center

Get started following the steps below.

1. Accessing the Notifications Window

The Notifications page in the Options dialog box in the Quartus II software allows you to subscribe to receive notifications. To open the Notifications page, follow these steps:

1. On the Tools menu, select Options.
2. Select Notifications under Internet Connectivity on the left pane.

From the Notifications page, you can sign in or sign out from your account and set or unset the ability to receive notifications. There is also a link to the notification center where you can create new cloud accounts, change cloud account settings, and reset your password.

3. Signing In to Your Account

Sign in to your account by clicking Sign In from the Notifications page. In the Notification Center Sign In dialog box, enter the username and password which you have registered for the notification center. If you have not created an account, you can create one by clicking the New user? Create an account link.

4. Setting Up Notification Options

After successfully registering with the notification center and signing in through the Quartus II software, you can now receive compilation notifications to your designated email address. On the notification center website, specify the email addresses to which you want notifications sent, and then turn on the Receive compilation status notifications on the Notifications page of the Options dialog box. Beginning with your next compilation, you will be notified, via email, of the status of your compilation.
