Temperature screening at Ocotillo and Chandler entrances starting December 16

Select entrances closing

To support the health and safety of our on-site workers, Intel will implement temperature screening at Ocotillo and Chandler campus entrances starting December 16.

Intel's Arizona sites are still in Phase Zero of Intel's return to workplace approach, and only workers performing essential work on-site or for another authorized purpose should be entering Intel facilities. If you are working remotely, please continue to do so.

How it works

When you enter the site, please display the results of your health check mobile survey or verbally confirm you've completed your pre-entry health screening to attending personnel.

Then, depending on the entrance, your temperature will be taken with either thermal screening technology or an infrared no-contact thermometer wrist scan. If you have an elevated temperature ($\geq 100.4^{\circ}\text{F}/38^{\circ}\text{C}$), you will not be permitted entry.

If you prefer, private screening is available in OC8-101. A Chandler private screening location will be added in early 2021.

Temperature information generated is viewed real-time by authorized Intel personnel. No temperature or other personal information is stored or otherwise processed.

Temperature screening starting December 16:

Entrance	Hours of Operation
OC2 Lobby	Monday – Sunday, 24 hours
OC8 Lobby	Monday – Sunday, 24 hours
OC Skipper's Turnstile	Entrance closing
CH4 Lobby	Monday – Sunday, 24 hours

In early 2021, we will begin temperature screening at additional entrances as well as closing additional select entrances.

More information about the temperature screening is available in the Arizona Temperature Screening FAQ.

Staying Safe at Home and at Work

Please continue to practice important safety protocols to prevent the spread of COVID-19 such as wearing face masks, social distancing, thorough handwashing, and staying home if you feel unwell.

Thank you for your support through this challenging time. Your health and wellness continue to remain a top priority, whether on our site or at home. We will update you if there are further changes.
